

Uta no Sato - Osugi Okoku (Osugi Kingdom: Land of Song) (1995)
9 performances - a fantasy written around an actual old song of Osugi village.

Komatsu Internet Love Story (1996) 13 perf. – 17th century haiku poet and a 12th century dancer – what would happen if they were young folks near the end of the 20th century?

Yokubari Tengu (The Greedy Goblin) (1997, 2003-4) 31 perf. – our original story of how the Osugi tengu turned to stone.

Mangetsu no Itazura (Moonlight Mischief) (1998, 2005) 28 perf. Two plays borrowed from the Japanese comic kyogen theatre are combined.

Heiwa no Tori: Hiroshima no Issan (Birds of Peace: Hiroshima's Legacy) (1999-2002, 2006) 53 perf. – the story of Sadako and the 1000 cranes.

Radio Osugi (2000) 12 perf. – imagining a fledgling radio station in our village in the 1920's, complete with a radio drama, "Meyo and the Pirate Adventure."

Kimodameshi (Taro's Test of Courage) 2001-4, 2009-10 44 perf. – our second kyogen musical, this one based on the play "Bow and Arrow Taro."

Lucky (2002) 12 perf. – a tale of the Noto Peninsula liberally adapted and reset in the American Wild West.

Yokubari Tengu II: Modotta Zo! (The Greedy Goblin II: "I'm Back!") (2004) 15 perf. The tengu comes back to life, causing more trouble, only to end up trapped inside a mirror.

Yokubari Tengu III: Tengu Wakusei no Daibouken (The Greedy Goblin III: Adventures on the Tengu Planet) (2007-8) 15 perf. Breaking out of the mirror, the tengu returns (albeit unintentionally) to his home planet, where all tengus are jolly instead of mean.

Yumemi Chaya (The Teahouse of Dreams) (2008) 12 perf. – based on stories found in both Dutch and Japanese folk tradition, the tale of a girl who dreams that her fortune can be found by going to the big city...

Kaga no Chiyojo Haiku Musical: Kokoro Yori (Haiku from the Heart) (2010) – ten performances now in progress. Introducing the haiku of a local poetess (11703-1775).

Community projects

- 1) crane folding campaigns – brought 50,000 to USA in 1999, 20,000 in 2006.
